

INFORMED CONSENT FORM

Introduction

We are members of a research project called Feed4Food is to empower vulnerable communities in three European cities—Greece, Cyprus, and Romania—through our innovative Urban Agriculture Living Labs. We hope to learn more about good and bad practices when establishing and running urban agriculture living labs. The information obtained from this study may benefit others who want to establish similar urban agriculture living labs in the future. In this project, we would like to evaluate the impact of the Living Labs on specific aspects of participants' life: health and quality of life. The aim is to investigate what can facilitate sustainable, inclusive and healthy urban food environments. We would therefore like you to answer a series of questionnaires, as well as to regularly input information on your activities in the urban garden you maintain.

Commented [KT1]: Should I have an estimate of time? Hard to know in advance.

We would like to emphasize that this questionnaire is completely anonymous and no identifying information will be collected. Your answers will be purely used for research purposes and will not affect any benefit or subsidies you may receive now or in the future. All data provided will be stored and handled in full accordance with the European Union privacy rules.

Taking part in this study is voluntary. You may refuse to participate before the study begins or discontinue your participation at any time. You may skip any question that may make you feel uncomfortable, with no penalty.

The main researchers conducting this study are Lia van Wesenbeeck and Klervie Toczé. Lia van Wesenbeeck is an associate professor at the Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam. Klervie Toczé is a research associate at Vrije Universiteit Amsterdam. Please ask any questions you have now. If you have questions later, you may contact Klervie Toczé (k.m.tocze@vu.nl or +31627262141) or Lia van Wesenbeeck (c.f.a.van.wesenbeeck@vu.nl).

1. Risks and discomforts

We do not anticipate any risks from participating in this research. We are not part of the Living Lab management or authorities.

In general, you do not have to answer any question, especially, feel free not to answer questions which are emotionally stressful for you.
